

Light rain changing to light snow Wednesday night, especially south

National Weather Service Louisville, KY

Overview

A small storm system will race from the mid Mississippi Valley Wednesday afternoon to the central Appalachians Thursday morning. The disturbance will be weakening and is not expected to cause major problems, but it will bring a light mix of rain and snow to the region Wednesday night, especially in southern Kentucky.

@NWSLouisville